GENERAL INFORMATION ON PLANT VARIETY PROTECTION

The Plant Variety Protection Act provides protection (plant breeders' rights) for sexually (i.e., seed) and tuber reproduced plants. The variety must be distinct from all other varieties, uniform, and stable. If the variety has been sold or used in the United States for more than one year or in a foreign country for longer than four years, then the variety is ineligible for protection. Use of the variety includes selling or disposing of reproductive or harvested material of the variety or use as a parent in a first generation hybrid.

Please submit your complete application (completed and signed application form, Exhibits A,B,C, & E, seeds, and fees) to our office before the period of eligibility expires. You may choose a representative to complete and receive all paperwork on your behalf. Current costs are given in the Regulations and Rules of Practice (Section 97.175) and on the application form.

To obtain copies of application forms, the Plant Variety Protection Act and its Regulations and Rules of Practice, please send a request including the crop type to: 10301 Baltimore Blvd., Room 500, Beltsville, MD 20705-2351.

Internet users now have access to the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Plant Variety Protection Act. The homepage provides up-to-date information on applications received by the Plant Variety Protection Office.
